

Kokua Market, Hawaii's first natural foods cooperative is looking for a baker to lead our bread department. We bake in small batches using organic flour and classic fermentation practices and are looking for a baker with experience in artisan bread baking or a strong desire to learn the craft. This is a full time position with benefits. A professional salary will be based on current skillset and potential to take our successful program to the next level.

Please submit your resume and letter of introduction to Kokua Market either in person at 2643 S King (near King and University) or email michalejohnkeys@gmail.com. We look forward to meeting you.
